

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION

AGRICULTURE * BUILDING.

The style of architecture is classic renaissance. The building is situated near the shore of Lake Michigan, and is almost surrounded by the lagoons that lead into the Park from the lake. The building is 500x800 feet, its longest dimensions being east and west. For a single story building the design is bold and heroic. The general cornice line is 65 feet above grade. On either side of the main entrance are mammoth Corinthian pillars, 50 feet high and 5 feet in diameter. On each corner and from the center of the building pavilions are reared, the center one being 144 feet square. The corner pavilions are connected by curtains, forming a continuous arcade around the top of the building. The main entrance leads through an opening 64 feet wide into a vestibule, from which entrance is had to the rotunda, 100 feet in diameter. This is surmounted by a mammoth glass dome 130 feet high. All through the main vestibule statuary has been designed, illustrative of the agricultural industry. Similar designs are grouped about all of the grand entrances in the most elaborate manner. The corner pavilions are surmounted by domes 96 feet high, and above these tower groups of statuary. Architects, McKim, Mead & White, of New York.

Agriculture, and its kindred interests of forestry, dairy and live stock, has exhibition space, under roof, of 69 acres, the buildings costing $1,18,000. To the southward of the Agricultural Building is a spacious structure devoted chiefly to a live stock and agricultural assembly hall. This building is conveniently near one of the stations of the elevated railway. On the first floor, near the main entrance of the building, is located a bureau of information. This floor also contains suitable committee and other rooms for the different live stock associations. Broad stairways lead from the first floor into the assembly room, which has a seating capacity of about 1,500. Forty acres are covered by the buildings for the stock exhibit. The pavilion is a great oblong building, having a show ring for animals and an amphitheatre for spectators. The pavilion is 280x440 feet in size. The stock sheds are built after the style of the Spanish or Mexican hacienda. The total cost of the buildings for live-stock is $335,000.

The Dairy Building is regarded by agriculturists as one of the most useful and attractive features of the whole Exposition. It was designed to contain not only a complete exhibit of dairy products but also a dairy school, in connection with which will be conducted a series of tests for determining the relative merits of different breeds of dairy cattle as milk and butter producers. The building stands near the lake shore in the southwestern part of the Park, and close by the general live stock exhibit. It covers approximately half an acre, measuring 95x200 feet, is two stories high and cost $30,000. In design it is of quiet exterior. On the first floor, besides office headquarters, there is in front a large open space devoted to exhibits of butter, and farther back an operating room 25x100 feet in which the model dairy will be conducted. On two sides of this room are amphitheatres seats capable of accommodating 400 spectators. Under these seats are refrigerators and cold storage rooms for the care of the dairy products. The operating room, which extends to the roof, has on three sides a gallery where the cheese exhibits are placed. The rest of the second story is devoted to a cafe, which opens on a balcony overlooking the lake. In the dairy barn are luxuriously stabled the fancy cows participating in the milk, butter and cheese tests conducted during the Exposition.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

For the purpose of installation of exhibits the building is divided, on the first floor, into five sections, "A" being in the northeast, "B" the northwest, "C" the southeast, "D" the southwest, and "E" in the west section. On the second or gallery floor are "F" in the northeast, "G" in the northwest, "H" in the southeast, and "I" in the southwest section. Beginning at the center of the building in each section, each column is lettered from "A" down the alphabet, toward the outside of the building. Beginning with the outside, and going toward the center of the building, the columns are numbered from "1" to "5". The columns in each section are lettered and numbered separately; that is, for example, in each section column "1-A" can be found. The location of an exhibit is indicated by two letters and a figure. For instance, an exhibit located in "H-G-5," means that it is in section "H" where the lines of the columns "G" and "5" cross. By consulting the ground plan in the front of the catalogue the sections can be readily located, and the columns are plainly lettered and numbered. All the agricultural machinery is in section "D." All exhibits of butter and cheese are in the Dairy Building, the butter on the first floor, and the cheese on the second floor. Exhibits of honey are on the gallery floor, at the east end of Agricultural Building. The ground plan shows the location by name of each of the States and foreign countries. Visitors can take the elevated railroad and alight at the Colonnade, and go immediately to the second floor of the Agricultural Building.

The credit for this neat exhibit really belongs to Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago agents for the A. A. A. Co. This firm has an exhibit in this building, as well as an exhibit of road graders and scrapers in the Transportation Building. Their salesrooms at Michigan Avenue and Madison Street, Chicago, cover 9 floors, 150x165 feet, and contain 750 employes. Their sales are nearly one million dollars each month, and the peculiar feature of their business is that they sell to the out-of-town trade exclusively. Visitors are invited to inspect their establishment.

The credit for this neat exhibit really belongs to Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago agents for the A. A. A. Co. This firm has an exhibit in this building, as well as an exhibit of road graders and scrapers in the Transportation Building. Their sales-rooms at Michigan Avenue and Madison Street, Chicago, cover 9 floors, 150x165 feet, and contain 750 employees. Their sales are nearly one million dollars each month, and the peculiar feature of their business is that they sell to the out-of-town trade exclusively. Visitors are invited to inspect their establishment.

HORTICULTURE BUILDING.

Immediately south of the entrance to Jackson Park from Midway Plaisance, and facing east on the lagoon, is the Horticulture Building. In front is a flower terrace for outside exhibits, including tanks for Nymphaea and the Victoria Regia. The front of the terrace, with its low parapet between large vases, borders the water, and at its center forms a boat landing. The building is 1,000 feet long, with an extreme width of 250 feet. The plan is a central pavilion with two end pavilions, each connected with the central one by front and rear curtains, forming two interior courts, each 88x270 feet. These courts are planted with bearing orange trees, ornamental shrubs and flowers, and include basins for aquatic plants and a German wine cellar. The center of the pavilion is roofed by a crystal dome 187 feet in diameter and 118 feet high, under which are exhibited the tallest palms, bamboos and tree ferns that can be procured. There are galleries in each of the pavilions. The galleries of the end pavilions are designed in part for cafes, the situation and the surroundings being particularly adapted to recreation and refreshment, the balance for the overflow of exhibits from the lower floors. These cafes are surrounded by an arcade on three sides, from which charming views of the grounds can be obtained. In this building are exhibited all the varieties of flowers, plants, vines, seeds, horticultural implements, wines, etc. Those exhibits requiring sunshine and light are shown in the front curtains, where the roof is entirely of glass. The rear curtains are designed for fruits and other exhibits that require only the ordinary amount of light. Provision is made to heat such parts as require it, and during the severest weather of the past winter the palms and tree-ferns under the great dome pushed out their broad leaves and fronds, and the century plants shot up their giant flower stalks in the temperature of the tropics. The exterior of the building is in "staff," tinted in cream. The cost of this building was about $300,000. W. L. B. Jenny, of Chicago, is the architect.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

As shown by the floor plans of the Horticulture Building, the entire ground floor proper is laid off into sections extending from east to west, and indicated by a number plainly marked at regular intervals on the walls. The floor spaces are crossed from north to south, and lettered from A to Z in regular order, each space being in the form of a square. The numbers on the second or gallery floor are the same as on the first floor. The location of an exhibit will be readily found by referring to the letter and figure placed in juxtaposition, and following it in the catalogue entry, or after the name of a country or State, in the catalogue, and by referring to these in the floor plans.

How to Find Exhibitors and Their Exhibits.

The list of exhibitors from the United States will be found in the first portion of this catalogue, the foreign countries with their exhibits installed in the Horticulture Building following in alphabetical order. Each country has its exhibits numbered consecutively, and as far as practicable each exhibit has a card attached to it bearing the name of the country and the words "Official Catalogue Number" and that number corresponds with the number in this Catalogue. For example, if a card is found with the following matter thereon:

Department B.                      Horticulture.

United States.

Official Catalogue Number 147

the visitor will turn to 147 in the United States portion of the Catalogue where will be found the following entry:

147. Ellwanger & Barry, Rochester, N. Y.
Fruits.                      B-18      133

It may be that the visitor's attention is first directed to the Catalogue, and he may be desirous of finding this exhibit. The first thing he should do is to see what the location is; that being B-18, he will refer to the Key to Installation, which states that the entire ground floor proper is laid off into sections extending from east to west, and indicated by a number plainly marked on each gallery post. The floor spaces are crossed from north to south, and lettered from A to Z in regular order, each space being in the form of a square. In the center of the first floor is the dome, and on each side of the building is a large room, known as the north and south curtains, and adjoining these are open courts for open air exhibits. The numbers on the second or gallery floor are the same as on the first floor. It will thus be seen that the exhibit of Ellwanger & Barry can be found on the ground floor in the space bounded by B on the south and 18 on the west.

The class number 133 serves many purposes, and one especially. A visitor, for instance, would like to see all the exhibits of fruits in the Horticulture Building. He immediately turns to the classification grouping, where he will read in group 21, class 133, the following: "Pomaceous and stone fruits—pears, apples, plums, peaches, nectarines, apricots, cherries, etc." He then refers to the list of exhibitors under group 21 and by glancing down the right hand side for 133 finds all exhibitors alphabetically arranged who are exhibiting the various articles enumerated in that class.

This rule applies to every exhibit in the Horticulture Department, whatever its character may be, and by following the above plan the visitor will experience no difficulty in locating the exhibitor or his exhibit.

No attention should be paid to any numbers which may be affixed to exhibits except those appearing on cards in the form given above.

LIVE STOCK PAVILION.

THE Live Stock Pavilion in which all animals are shown for award is located at the rear of the Colonnade which connects Machinery Hall with the Agricultural Building and is reached by four grand entrances, one in the center of the Colonnade and one at either end. In addition to these there are a large number of entrances, making it easy of access from all sides. The extreme measurements of the building are 300x440 feet, covering an area of three acres. The general arrangement of the structure is the same as the Colosseum at Rome, the structure of the former being Romanesque and the latter purely classic, of the Doric order. There is very little ornament on this building save the balustrade which tops the cornice. The seating capacity is 10,000.

Under the Amphitheatre are the offices of the Chief of the Department and Superintendents of Divisions, with the entire office force of the Department except the Veterinary Surgeon, whose office is in Dairy Barn No. 6.

The Pavilion is elliptical in outline and covers an area of 280x450 feet. The total area of the arena embraces about 60,000 square feet and is paved with white cedar blocks covered with tanbark, affording good footing for the animals.

The Live Stock Barns are located south of the Pavilion, covering, with the intervening driveways, twenty-seven acres of ground. Accommodations are provided for some 3,000 animals in stalls, averaging from four feet six inches to 10 feet in width. They are provided with water, scales for weighing animals, etc. The sleeping accommodations for men in charge of stock are on the gallery floor of the barns above the stalls. Every precaution has been taken to insure proper ventilation and safety of the animals on exhibition.

The cost of the Pavilion, barns and roadways is $220,000.

The sum of $150,000 cash premiums has been appropriated by the Exposition Directory for awards. This has been largely supplemented by special offerings of the several States and of the Live Stock Associations. In addition, valuable aid has been accorded by a number of State Commissions, who pay the shipping charges, feed, etc., on stock from their several states.

LIVE STOCK PAVILION.

THE Live Stock Pavilion in which all animals are shown for award is located at the rear of the Colonnade which connects Machinery Hall with the Agricultural Building and is reached by four grand entrances, one in the center of the Colonnade and one at either end. In addition to these there are a large number of entrances, making it easy of access from all sides. The extreme measurements of the building are 800x440 feet, covering an area of three acres. The general arrangement of the structure is the same as the Colosseum at Rome, the structure of the former being Romanesque and the latter purely classic, of the Doric order. There is very little ornament on this building save the balustrade which tops the cornice. The seating capacity is 10,000.

Under the Amphitheatre are the offices of the Chief of the Department and Superintendents of Divisions, with the entire office force of the Department except the Veterinary Surgeon, whose office is in Dairy Barn No. 6.

The Pavilion is elliptical in outline and covers an area of 280x450 feet. The total area of the arena embraces about 60,000 square feet and is paved with white cedar blocks covered with tanbark, affording good footing for the animals.

The Live Stock Barns are located south of the Pavilion, covering, with the intervening driveways, twenty-seven acres of ground. Accommodations are provided for some 3,000 animals in stalls, averaging from four feet six inches to 10 feet in width. They are provided with water, scales for weighing animals, etc. The sleeping accommodations for men in charge of stock are on the gallery floor of the barns above the stalls. Every precaution has been taken to insure proper ventilation and safety of the animals on exhibition.

The cost of the Pavilion, barns and roadways is $220,000.

The sum of $150,000 cash premiums has been appropriated by the Exposition Directory for awards. This has been largely supplemented by special offerings of the several States and of the Live Stock Associations. In addition, valuable aid has been accorded by a number of State Commissions, who pay the stripping charges, feed, etc., on stock from their several states.

FISH AND FISHERIES BUILDING.

The Fisheries Building embraces a large central structure with two smaller polygonal buildings connected with it on either end by arcades. The extreme length of the building is 1,100 feet. It is located to the northward of the United States Government Building. The central portion is the general fisheries exhibit. In one of the polygonal buildings is the angling exhibit and in the other the aquaria. The exterior of the building is Spanish-Romanesque. The exterior of the building can not fail to be exceedingly interesting, and the architect, Henry Ives Cobb, has arranged innumerable forms of capitals, moldings, arches, cornices and other ornamental details, using only fish and other sea forms for his design. The roof of the building is of old Spanish tile, and the side walls of a warm color. The cost is about $200,000. In the center of the eastern polygonal building is a rotunda 60 feet in diameter, in the middle of which is a basin or pool 26 feet wide, in which rises a towering mass of rocks, covered with moss and lichens. From clefts and crevices in the rocks crystal streams of water gush and drop to the masses of reeds, ferns and ornamental semi-aquatic plants in the basin below. In this pool gorgeous fish of all sorts are seen. From the rotunda one side of the larger series of aquaria may be viewed. There are ten in number, and have a capacity of 7,000 to 27,000 gallons of water each. From the rotunda a great corridor or arcade is reached, where on one hand are the opposite side of the series of great tanks, and on the other a line of tanks that smaller, ranging from 750 to 1,500 gallons each in capacity. The glass fronts of the tanks are in length about 575 feet, and have 3,000 square feet of surface. The total capacity of the aquaria, exclusive of reservoirs, is 140,000 gallons. Of this amount 40,000 gallons are devoted to the marine exhibit. The supply of sea water was brought in in iron oil tank cars from the Atlantic coast. In the main building is the general fisheries exhibit, consisting of boats, seines, etc., and all manner of preserved and fish products, and in the western pavilion is the angling exhibit. In the lagoon are shown many out-of-door exhibits connected with the fisheries, which could all be shown in the building.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

The design of the Fish and Fisheries Building differs widely from that of nearly all other department-buildings, the main building being rectangular in form and ornamented with two wings known as polygonal buildings. The ground floor of the central building is laid off into spaces for exhibits, indicated by numbers and the cross sections which by tracing the lines from the letter to the number, as for instance, A-4 (as shown in the catalogue) will be easily found. By referring to the name of the exhibit, the name of the country or State as shown in the catalogue, and then looking on the plan indicates the space occupied by the exhibit.

- Class 280. The history of fish culture.
- Class 281. Hatching, breeding and rearing establishments, including oyster and other shell-fish grounds.
- Class 282. Apparatus and implements connected with fish culture and for transporting fish and fish ova. Food for fry.
- Class 283. Representations illustrative of the development and progressive growth of fish.
- Class 284. Models and drawings of fish-ways and fish ladders.
- Class 285. Diseases of fish, with special reference to their origin and cure. Models and drawings.
- Class 286. Processes for rendering streams polluted by sewage and chemical or other words innocuous to fish life. (Illustrated by models and drawings.)
- Class 287. Physico-chemical investigation into those qualities of salt and fresh water which affect aquatic animals; investigation of the bottom of the sea and of lakes, shown by samples; aquatic plants in relation to fishing, etc.; researches into the aquatic fauna (animals of the several classes preserved in alcohol, or prepared, etc.); apparatus and implements used in such researches.
- Class 288. Acclimatization of fish. Marking of introduced fish for purposes of identification.
- Class 289. Statistics of the results of fish culture. Specimens of fish artificially propagated or introduced.

How to Find Exhibitors and Their Exhibits.

The list of exhibitors from the United States will be found in the first portion of this catalogue, the foreign countries with their exhibits installed in the Fisheries Building following in alphabetical order. Each country has its exhibits numbered consecutively and as far as practicable each exhibit has a card attached to it bearing the name of the country and the words "Official Catalogue Number" and that number corresponds with the number in this Catalogue. For example, if a card is found with the following matter thereon:

Department D.                      Fisheries.

United States.

Official Catalogue Number 18

the visitor will turn to 18 in the United States portion of the Catalogue where will be found the following entry:

18. American Net & Twine Co., Boston.

a Nets, seines and material. B-20 257

b Fish traps, pounds, etc. 258

It may be that the visitor's attention is first directed to the Catalogue, and he may be desirous of finding this exhibit. The first thing he should do is to see what the location is; that being B-20, he will refer to the Key of Installation, which states that the ground floor of the main building, as shown in the diagram, is laid off into spaces for exhibits indicated by numbers 1 to 54, running east and west and with cross sections running north and south and lettered A to Q. The exhibit, therefore, of the American Net and Twine Co. will be found in that space bounded by B and 20, or in other words, the exhibit can be located at the corner of "B and 20th streets." The exhibits in the gallery of the main building and in the Angling Pavilion are all installed on the same system as those in the main building, and can be readily located by following above instructions.

The class number 257 serves many purposes, and one especially. A visitor, for instance, would like to see all the exhibits of nets and seines in the Fisheries Building. He immediately turns to the classification grouping, where he will read in group 38, class 257, the following: "Nets and seines, rakes and dredges and materials used in their manufacture." He immediately turns to the list of exhibitors under group 38 and by glancing down the right hand side for 257 finds all exhibitors alphabetically arranged who are exhibiting nets and seines and other articles enumerated in that class.

This rule applies to every exhibit in the Fisheries Department, whatever its character may be, and by following the above plan the visitor will experience no difficulty in locating the exhibitor or his exhibit.

MINES AND MINING BUILDING.

Mines and Mining Building is located at the southern extremity of the western lagoon or lake, and between the Electricity and Transportation buildings. This building is 700 feet long by 350 feet wide. Its architecture has its inspiration in early Italian renaissance. On each of the four sides of the building are placed the entrances, those of the north and south fronts being the most spacious and prominent. To the right and left of each entrance, inside, start broad flights of easy stairs leading to the galleries. The galleries are 60 feet wide and 25 feet high from the ground floor, and are lighted on the sides by large windows and from above by a high clearstory extending around the building.

The interior space enclosed is 680 feet long, 100 feet high in the center and 47 feet high at the sides. This space is spanned by steel cantilever trusses, supported on steel columns. The clear space in the center is 116 feet. The cantilever system, as applied to roofs, was never used on so large a scale before.

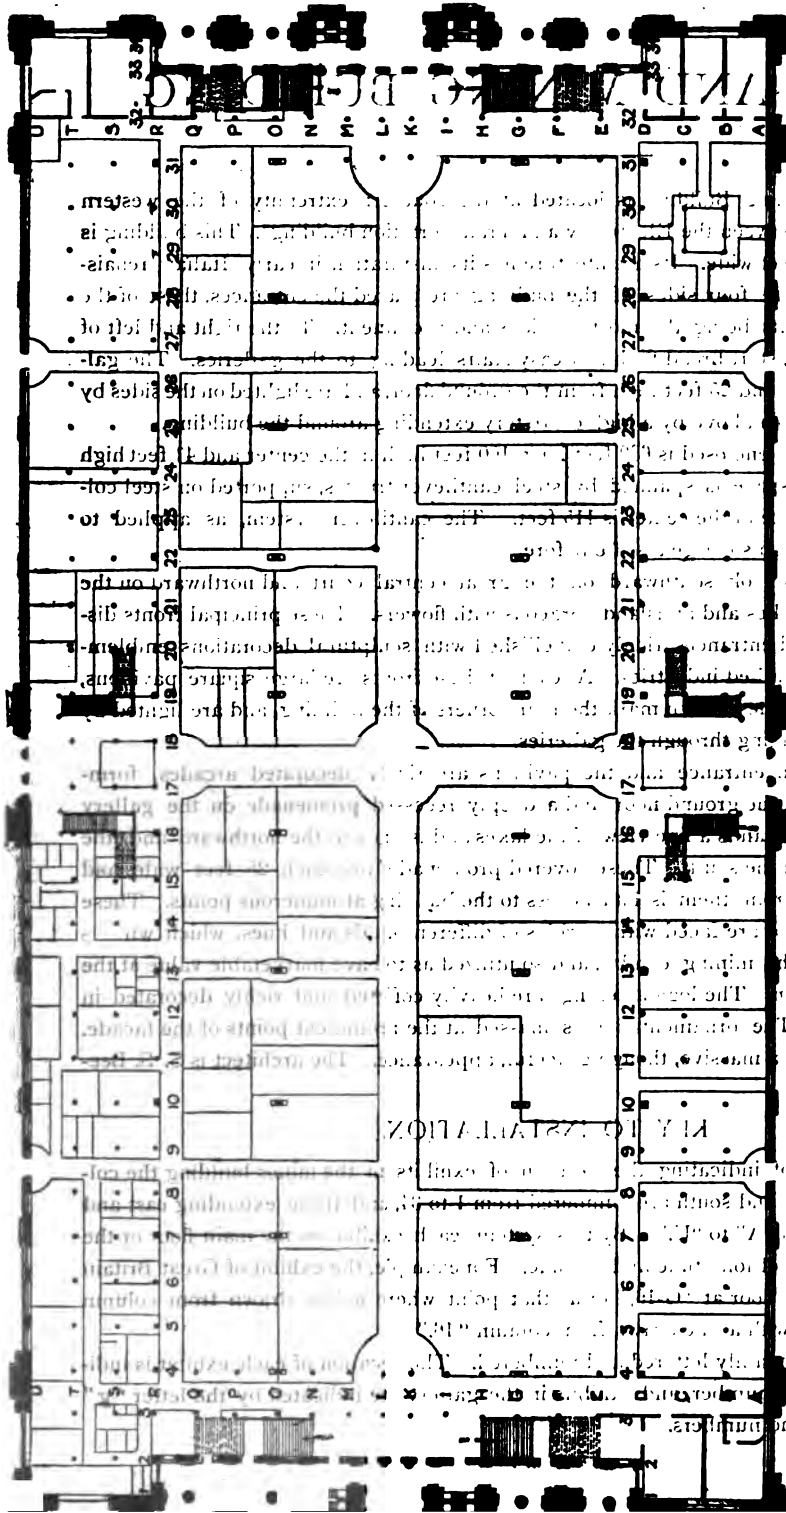

The main fronts look southward on the great central court, and northward on the western and middle lakes and an island gorgeous with flowers. These principal fronts display enormous arched entrances, richly embellished with sculptural decorations emblematic of mining and its allied industries. At each of these fronts are large square pavilions, surmounted by low domes which mark the four corners of the building, and are lighted by arched windows extending through the galleries.

Between the main entrance and the pavilions are richly decorated arcades forming an open loggia on the ground floor, and a deeply recessed promenade on the gallery floor level, which commands a fine view of the lakes and islands to the northward and the great central court on the south. These covered promenades are each 25 feet wide and 230 feet long, and from them is had access to the building at numerous points. These loggias on the first floor are faced with marbles of different kinds and hues, which will be considered part of the mining exhibit, and so utilized as to have marketable value at the close of the Exposition. The loggia ceilings are heavily coffered and richly decorated in plaster and color. The ornamentation is massed at the prominent points of the facade. The exterior presents a massive, though graceful, appearance. The architect is S. S. Beaman, of Chicago.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

For the purpose of indicating the location of exhibits in the mines building the columns extending north and south are numbered from 1 to 34, and those extending east and west are lettered from "A" to "U." By this system, each exhibit on the main floor or the gallery has a position of longitude and latitude. For example, the exhibit of Great Britain is located on the main floor at "G-16," or at that point where a line drawn from column "G" would intersect with a line drawn from column "16."

The columns are plainly lettered and numbered. The location of each exhibit is indicated by a letter and number, and exhibits in the gallery are indicated by the letter "g" following the letter and numbers.

 Class 305. Refractory stones for lining furnaces, sandstone, steatite, etc., and refractory furnace materials. Mica; kidney, sheet or ground.
 Class 306. Bauxite clay for the manufacture of aluminum.
 Class 307. Asbestos, crude and manufactured.
 Class 308. Meerscham.

GROUP 27.

LIMESTONE, CEMENTS AND ARTIFICIAL STONE.

- Class 300. Lime, cement and hydraulic cement, raw and burned, accompanied by specimens of the crude rock or material used; also artificial stone, concrete, beton.
Specimens of lime mortar and mixtures, with illustrations of the processes of mixing, etc. Hydraulic and other cements.
Class 310. Beton mixtures and results, with illustrations of the processes.
Class 311. Artificial stone for building purposes, building blocks, cornices, etc. Artificial stone mixtures for pavements, walls or ceilings.
Class 312. Asphaltic mastics and mixtures, asphaltic sand, asphaltic limestone.
Class 313. Gypsum, crude and boiled; calcareous, plasters, mastics, etc.

GROUP 48.

SALTS, SULPHUR, FERTILIZERS, PIGMENTS, MINERAL WATERS AND MISCELLANEOUS USEFUL MINERALS AND COMPOUNDS.

- Class 314. Salts from beds or from brines.
Class 315. Nitre and other nitrates.
Class 316. Sulphates, alums and other salts.
Class 317. Sulphur and pyrites for the manufacture of sulphuric acid.
Class 318. Boracic acid and its salts; borax.
Class 319. Pigments, iron oxides, ochres, vermilion, etc.
Class 320. Mineral fertilizing substances, gypsum, phosphate of lime, marls, shells, coprolites, etc., not manufactured. (For commercial fertilizers and compounds, see Group 17.)
Class 321. Mineral waters, artesian well water (for commercial forms, as bottled and as beverages, see Group 10); natural brines, saline and alkaline efflorescences and solutions.

GROUP 49.

METALLURGY OF IRON AND STEEL, WITH THE PRODUCTS.

- Class 322. Ore mixtures, fluxes and fuels.
Class 323. Blast furnaces—stacks, stoves, blowing apparatus and arrangement.
Class 324. Pig-iron, cast-iron and mixtures.
Class 325. Cupola furnaces.
Class 326. Direct processes—sponge and blooming plant and apparatus.
Class 327. Puddling—furnaces and appliances.
Class 328. Bessemer machinery—details and arrangements.
Class 329. Basic process and apparatus.
Class 330. Acid hearth steel—plant and apparatus.
Class 331. Crucible steel—plant and apparatus.
Class 332. Nickel steel.
Class 333. Manganese iron and steel, chrome steel, aluminum steel, tungsten steel, other forms of steel.
Class 334. Iron and steel. Bars, rods, sheets, wire.

GROUP 50.

ALUMINUM AND ITS ALLOYS.

- Class 335. Aluminum, pure and commercial; ingots, castings, bars, rods, wire, sheets, and partly manufactured.
Class 336. Aluminum alloys.
Class 337. Aluminum alloy wire and wire cloth.
Class 338. Process for the extraction of aluminum; electric reduction and results.

GROUP 31.*COPPER AND ITS ALLOYS—METALLURGY.

- Class 339. Native copper, and the methods of extracting, melting and refining it.
- Class 340. Copper ores and their treatment by fire. Copper smelting. Pneumatic process. Converter system.
- Class 341. Copper extraction in the "wet" way.
- Class 342. Copper in ingots, bars and rolled, with specimens illustrating its various stages of production. Copper and zinc. Brass industry and products regarded as materials of manufacture.
- Class 343. Copper and aluminum, aluminum bronze.

GROUP 52.*METALLURGY OF TIN, TIN-PLATE, ETC.

- Class 344. Tin ores and their treatment.
- Class 345. Block tin and its extraction from tin ore.
- Class 346. Tin-plate and methods of cleaning and coating iron and steel plates.

GROUP 53.*METALLURGY OF ZINC, NICKEL AND COBALT.

- Class 347. Production of spelter.
- Class 348. Sheet and bar zinc.
- Class 349. Production of zinc oxide.
- Class 350. Nickel in ingots, bars, rods, sheets and wire.
- Class 351. Nickel-covered steel and iron by rolling.
- Class 352. Nickel "plating."
- Class 353. Nickel salts.
- Class 354. Special nickel alloys, as German silver, etc.
- Class 355. Nickel steel. (See Class 332.)

GROUP 54.*METALLURGY OF ANTIMONY AND OTHER METALS NOT SPECIFICALLY CLASSED.

- Class 356. Crude and star antimony.
- Class 357. Antimony compounds and principal alloys.
- Class 358. Arsenic, white arsenic, orpiment and realgar.
- Class 359. Bismuth and alloys. Quicksilver and amalgams.

GROUP 55.*EXTRACTION OF GOLD AND SILVER BY MILLING.

- Class 360. Gold mills and accessories.
- Class 361. Silver mills and accessories.
- Class 362. Apparatus and accessories of amalgamation; handling quicksilver.
- Class 363. Retorting, melting, stamping, shipping bullion.

GROUP 56.*EXTRACTION OF GOLD AND SILVER BY LIXIVIATION.

- Class 364. Roasting and chloridizing furnaces.
- Class 365. Chlorination process and adjuncts.
- Class 366. Other processes.

GROUP 57.*EXTRACTION OF GOLD, SILVER AND LEAD BY FIRE.

- Class 367. Furnace plant and appliances.
- Class 368. Lead bullion, molds and bars.
- Class 369. Refining operations.

GROUP 50

QUARRYING AND WORKING STONE.

- Class 370. Quarrying, channeling and cutting engines.
- Class 371. Derricks and fittings.
- Class 372. Slate-cutting, sawing and planing machines.
- Class 373. Machines and apparatus for cutting, turning and polishing marble, granite and other stone. (See Group 78.)

GROUP 59.

PLACER, HYDRAULIC AND DRIFT MINING.

- Class 374. Apparatus and machines for washing gravel; sluices, cradles, toms, rockers, riffles, etc.
- Class 375. Construction of ditches, flumes, pen-stocks, etc.
- Class 376. Pipes for conveying water.
- Class 377. "Giants," nozzles and appurtenances.

GROUP 60.

TOOLS AND APPLIANCES OF UNDERGROUND MINING, TIMBERING AND SUPPORTING.

- Class 378. Timber cutting and framing machines.
- Class 379. Methods of timbering shown by examples.
- Class 380. Underground chutes, gates and appliances for delivering ores. Methods and appliances for ventilating, lighting and signaling.

GROUP 61.

BORING AND DRILLING TOOLS AND MACHINERY, AND APPARATUS FOR BREAKING OUT ORE AND COAL.

- Class 381. Picks, gads and hammers.
- Class 382. Hand-drills, hammers and blasting implements.
- Class 383. Drilling by steam or compressed air—"power drills."
- Class 384. Diamond drills for prospecting or for sinking and driving.
- Class 385. Well and shaft boring (various systems).
- Class 386. Boring for water, oil, or gas—tools and methods.
- Class 387. Machines, apparatus and implements for cutting coal.

GROUP 62.

PUMPS, ENGINES AND APPARATUS USED IN MINING FOR PUMPING, DRAINING AND HOISTING.

GROUP 63.

MOVING, STORING AND DELIVERING ORES, COALS, ETC.

- Class 388. Tramways, turn-tables, automatic hoisting and conveying on the surface, contrivances for loading and unloading ores and coal.
- Class 389. Cars of all kinds.
- Class 390. Automatic dumping.
- Class 391. Ore bins and appliances.

GROUP 64.

APPARATUS FOR CRUSHING AND PULVERIZING.

- Class 392. Rock breakers.
- Class 393. Rolls.
- Class 394. Large stamps.
- Class 395. Stamps and mortars.
- Class 396. Revolving grinding mills.
- Class 397. Coal breakers.

GROUP 65.*SIZING APPLIANCES.

- Class 398. Grizzlies and bar screens and sieves.
- Class 399. Perforated plates.
- Class 400. Wire-mesh sieves and trammels.
- Class 401. Sizing by currents of water or air. Overflows.
- Class 402. Sizing by belts.

GROUP 66.*ASSAYING APPARATUS AND FIXTURES.

- Class 403. Plans of assay offices.
- Class 404. Furnaces, muffles and appliances.
- Class 405. Scorification and cupelling.
- Class 406. Volumetric methods and apparatus.
- Class 407. Fluxes and their receptacles.
- Class 408. Assay balances, etc. (See Group 112.)
- Class 409. Assay tables, assay schemes and methods.

GROUP 67.*HISTORY AND LITERATURE OF MINING AND METALLURGY.

- Class 410. Maps, relief-models and pictures to illustrate the geology and distribution of minerals and mines and the methods of working mines.
- Class 411. History and statistics of mines and mining districts.
Charts, diagrams and tabular representations. Statistics of mineral production.
- Class 412. Mine engineering—surface and underground surveying and plotting, projection of underground work, location of shafts, tunnels, etc.; surveys for aqueducts and for drainage.
Boring and drilling rocks, shafts and tunnels, etc.; surveys for aqueducts and for ascertaining the nature and extent of mineral deposits.
Construction—sinking and lining shafts by various methods, driving and timbering tunnels and the general operations of opening, stopping and breaking down ore; timbering, lagging and masonry.
Hoisting and delivering at the surface, rock, ore or miners; pumping and draining by engines, buckets or by adits.
Ventilating and lighting.

GROUP 68.*ORIGINALS OR REPRODUCTIONS OF EARLY AND NOTABLE IMPLEMENTS AND APPARATUS USED IN MINING AND METALLURGY.

How to Find Exhibitors and Their Exhibits.

The list of exhibitors from the United States will be found in the first portion of this Catalogue, the foreign countries with their exhibits installed in Mines and Mining Building following in alphabetical order. Each country has its exhibits numbered consecutively, and as far as practicable each exhibit has a card attached to it bearing the name of the country and the words "Official Catalogue Number," and that number corresponds with the number in this Catalogue. For example, if a card is found with the following matter thereon:

Department E. Mines and Mining.

United States.

Official Catalogue Number 220

the visitor will turn to 220 in the United States portion of the Catalogue, where will be found the following entry:

220. McCully, Robert, Philadelphia. Rock
crushers and granulators. R-8 392

It may be that the visitor's attention is first directed to the Catalogue and he may be desirous of finding this exhibit. The first thing he should do is to see what the location is. That being R-8 he will refer to the Key to Installation, which states that in the Mines and Mining Building the columns extending north and south are numbered from 1 to 34, and those extending east and west are lettered from "A" to "U." By this system, each exhibit on the main floor or the gallery has a position of longitude and latitude. The exhibit, therefore, of R. McCully will be found on the main floor at that point where a line drawn from column "R" would intersect with a line drawn from column "8," or in other words, the exhibit can be located on the main floor at the corner of "R and 8th streets."

The class number 392 serves many purposes, and one especially. A visitor, for instance, would like to see all the exhibits of rock crushers in Mines and Mining Building. He immediately turns to the classification grouping, where he will read in group 64, class 392 the following: Rock breakers. He then refers to the list of exhibitors under group 64, and by glancing down the right hand side for 392 finds all exhibitors alphabetically arranged who are exhibiting rock breakers and crushers.

This rule applies to every exhibit in the Mines and Mining Building, whatever its character may be, and by following the above plan the visitor will experience no difficulty in locating the exhibitor or his exhibit.

Collective Exhibit of the Illinois Brick and Tile Association.

The Illinois Brick & Tile Association, representing the following exhibitors of Illinois clay and clay products, earnestly invite all visitors to the "World's Fair" to visit their exhibit at the above location, which comprises an exhibit of the different commercial clays of the state for the manufacture of the following articles: Terra-cotta, Sewer Pipe, Paving Brick, Drain Tile, Stone ware, Rockingham and Yellow ware, Chimney Tops, Flue Linings, Fire Brick, Building Brick, including also Potters' Clay, Fire Clay, Slip Clay and Shale.

No field offers greater inducements for the legitimate investment of capital than the development of their vast clay deposits.

They especially invite correspondence relative to the clay and clay manufactures of their state, in order that at the close of the World's Fair they may be in possession of sufficient data to enable them to publish a complete history of their vast deposits, their manufacturers, together with full details of capital employed and value of yearly output. Respectfully,

J. E. Chandler, President.
Wm. Hammerschmidt, V.-Pres.
G. C. Stoll, Secretary.
Jos. Stafford.
